MANAGER'S INTRODUCTION

Upon arrival, Residents assigned to the Burlington Residential Correctional Facility (BRCF) may have a wide variety of expectations and pre-conceived notions. Some of these expectations/notions may be correct; others not. It is hoped that this RESIDENT HANDBOOK, along with the orientation information and materials from BRCF staff, will provide the necessary knowledge of policies, procedures, rules, regulations, programs, etc. to enable Residents to be successful and gain from experiences here. In addition to the RESIDENT HANDBOOK, all applicable BRCF policies (such as the Disciplinary, Visiting, Hazardous Chemicals, Evacuation Contingency Plan, Personal Property, Review and others contained in the RESIDENT MANUAL and are available for you to review at the Control Desk (front Desk) area. You are also required to read the CLEANING MANUAL/MSDS book (also located at the Control Desk) within one (1) week of your arrival.

It is important that all Residents understand that one of the most basic requirements while at the BRCF is to comply with all rules and regulations. There are certain rules and regulations which were designed to assist Residents to live together in an acceptable manner in this dormitory style housing arrangement (which can be quite a change for Residents, ranging from those who have been accustomed to living on their own to those who have been living in cells in institutions). It is our policy to have only those rules and regulations deemed necessary to ensure a safe, secure, humane and orderly environment to where not only are basic needs met, but also, an environment that allows positive self change through effective treatment program involvement.

Residents should be aware, the Iowa Board of Parole (for those in the status of Parole, Work Release, and OWI) and the Courts (for those on Probation) have placed each Resident here for specific individual reasons and as a further test to determine if release to a less structured setting is merited; or if placement in a more structured setting is necessary. If Residents are serious about progressing toward release to the freedoms and responsibilities of independent decision making, they have that opportunity while at the BRCF by demonstrating responsible and mature behavior, including:

1. Complying with all rules, regulations, procedures and expectations of the facility.
2. Following the direction of facility staff.
3. Becoming fully involved in all recommended treatment programming; and
4. Adhering to the 8th Judicial District Zero-Tolerance Substance Abuse Policy.

All Residents need to be aware that BRCF, in cooperation with the Des Moines County Attorney's Office, FULLY PROSECUTES ESCAPE AS A FELONY (up to 5 years in prison consecutive to any other sentence).

The ability to live successfully in the free community should be the main goal of each Resident at the Burlington Residential Correctional Facility. The staff I manage (and others that we contract to provide services) are here to assist Residents toward this goal and hold Residents accountable (positively or negatively) to their response to these efforts. Residents whose behavior demonstrates they are serious about living successfully in the free community will find all the assistance they need. Likewise, Residents whose behavior demonstrates otherwise, will be reported to the Courts/Iowa Board of Parole, and may soon find themselves in another setting.

Residents will receive a copy of the RESIDENT HANDBOOK and it is to be read carefully. A video/audio tape is available for those with reading or eyesight difficulties, and arrangements will be made to impart information to those who do not have the ability to read the English language. If there are any questions, direct them to appropriate staff. Residents shall sign a Handbook receipt and are then responsible for fully complying with all rules, regulations and requirements as stated.

CLASSIFICATION

In order to properly assess what treatment needs are to be addressed, and to fulfill the Resident's ordered obligations, the Resident will meet with the Review Committee. The Review Committee members are the Residential Manager, Residential Supervisor, and the assigned Supervising Officer.

Primary Classification: Each Resident will meet with their assigned Supervising Officer during the first two (2) working days of their arrival at the Facility. The Supervising Officer will ensure a Level of Service Inventory has been completed. The Supervising Officer will also review each Resident's court orders, pre-sentence investigation report, prison records and recommendations, and conditions of release imposed by the Parole Board. The Supervising Officer will then prepare a Reentry Case Plan with the Resident. That plan will be reviewed by the review committee within thirty (30) days of the resident's arrival.

Program Review: Each Resident's progress in meeting the expectations established at Primary Review and overall performance at the Facility, will be reviewed at least once a month. Updated treatment needs or behavioral changes needed, will also be addressed at this time.

When the assigned Supervising Officer feels the Resident has accomplished their established goals, the Supervising Officer will prepare a report for release consideration. The Resident's case will be reviewed by the committee and a determination will be made if the Resident has maximized benefits from their stay at the Facility and is ready for release.

Likewise, if the Supervising Officer determines that a Resident has major failure(s) in program participation or if a Resident demonstrates a severe lack of effort in completing treatment programming, the Review Committee will determine if the Resident shall be referred back to the placing authority for termination from the facility.

COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAM

In order to receive a recommendation for release from the Burlington Residential Correctional Facility, Residents will complete all Court ordered community service. Some community service activities may be completed by Residents who have not been ordered to perform community service by the Courts, and/or are not performing community service in lieu of payment of fines, court costs, restitution, attorney fees, etc. Residents, who are not ordered by a court to perform community service, may do community service work to cover the cost of up to one week's rent at a rate per hour established by the Residential manager. Community service may be performed at most governmental, non-profit and charitable organizations. Any resident wishing to become involved in regularly scheduled community service must have pre-approval from their supervising officer. STEP residents must have approval from their supervising agent for each location at which they wish to perform community service.
